HAND-PAINTED SEAL BOX BY DENG YING

$88

2014 • Beijing, China • Porcelain • Collection #BJD110K

H: 1.25" Dia: 2.5"

Created by Beijing-based artist Deng Ying exclusively for PAGODA RED, this limited edition hand-painted seal box is one of a series playfully drawing on the Chinese tradition of blue-and-white porcelain. Fired at the historic Chinese imperial kilns of Jingdezhen, this petite box is painted with a spray of pine needles blowing in the wind. A common motif in Chinese art, pine branches are a traditional symbol of longevity. A small container in this shape would have traditionally been used to contain ink for an artists seal stamp. Today, it is just right for jewelry or keepsakes. Continued...
