PROVINCIAL MELON JAR

$1,680

c. 1800 • Beijing, China • Ceramic • Collection #BJFF128

H: 15.5" Dia: 16.5"

Masterfully crafted, this provincial Qing-dynasty jar takes an artful approach to the traditional melon-shaped vessel. Formed with a wide mouth and squared-off shape, the jar has raised pleats that stand in for a melon's ribs and diminish in height as they course down from the jar's shoulders. Glazed a neutral grey-brown, the ceramic jar is intriguing in its nod to modernity.
