PETITE STRIPED CHUPÍCUARO VESSEL

$980

Unknown • Mexico • Ceramic • Collection #CBH059

H: 4.75" Dia: 5.0"

This petite ceramic vessel was made by an artisan of the Chupícuaro culture, which was settled in Guanajuato, Mexico from 500 BC - 300 AD. Exhibiting a rich patina, the bowl's surface is painted in a striped pattern with slips of buff and red clay. Hand-formed using a coil method, the vessel nonetheless has a balanced symmetry, with a rounded form that tapered at the mouth. Although the precise date of the piece is unknown, this petite vessel remains an exquisite example of Pre-Columbian artistry.

Vessel has a hairline crack on one side.
